Petrobras announces price reductions for its products

(Rio de Janeiro, April 28, 2003). PETROLEO BRASILEIRO S.A Petrobras, (BOVESPA: PETR3 / PETR4, NYSE: PBR / PBRA, LATIBEX: XPBR / XPBRA), Brazil's largest oil and gas, petrochemicals and energy company, announces that it is informing to its customers today reductions in the prices of its products as per the table below, to be effective from zero hour of April 30, 2003 (Adjustments to the average invoice ex-(Petrobras)refinery price excluding ICMS (value added tax).

Product	Excluding CIDE and PIS/Cofins	Including CIDE and PIS/Cofins
Gasoline	-10.0%	-6.5%
Diesel	-10.0%	-8.6%
Fuel Oil	-18.3%	-18.0%

The price of gasoline and diesel oil at the refineries is composed of the Petrobras realization price and Federal and State taxes. The Intervention Contribution in the Economic Domain (CIDE) is one of the federal taxes. This Contribution, which has a specific fixed value (excise tax), currently of R$ 0,5411/litre for gasoline and R$ 0,2180/litre for diesel, mitigates the transfer to the consumer of refinery prices changes.

During the first quarter of 2003, international market prices of oil and its derivatives and the foreign exchange rate rose to levels which exceeded those practiced when prices were previously established on December 29, 2002. However, Petrobras did not re-adjust its prices since that date.

Recently international market prices and the foreign exchange rate have receded so that Petrobras took the decision to reduce the prices of these oil derivatives.
