Note: The Registrant owns 51% of the QuickNet. While revenues and costs of revenues are consolidated for reporting purposes, a 49% minority interest in the two companies exists, which, in effect, reduces the allocable gross profit by 49% or $437,679.

Operating Expenses. The Company incurred operating expenses of $725,161 in the first quarter 2005 compared to operating expenses of $80,239 in the first quarter 2004.

Net Income. The net Income in the first quarter 2005 was $ 60,741 compared to the net loss in the first quarter 2004 of $ 18,917. The per share income for the first quarter 2005 was nominal, and the per share loss for the first quarter 2004 was nominal.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The Company had cash capital of $5,667,735 at the quarter ended March 31, 2005.

The Company has no other capital resources other than the ability to use its common stock to achieve additional capital raising. Other than cash capital, its other assets would be illiquid.

At the quarter ended March 31, 2005 it had $5,769,093 in current assets and current liabilities of $2,416,625.

The cash capital at the end of the period of $5,667,735 will be used to fund continuing operations.

Net cash flows provided by operating activities increased to $138,613 for the quarter ended March 31, 2005 from ($10,521) for the quarter ended March 31, 2004.

Changes in Financial Condition:

At the end of the first quarter 2005 Company had assets $6,748,966 compared to $6,447,030 at year-end 2004. The current assets totaled $5,769,093 at the end of the first quarter 2005 compared to $5,466,574 at 2004 year-end. Total liabilities at the end of the first quarter 2004 were $2,416,625 compared to $2,452,522 at 2004 year-end. At March 31, 2005 the Company had $ 5,667,735 in cash compared to $5,380,622 2004 year-end.

Need for Additional Financing:

The Company believes it has sufficient capital to meet its short-term cash needs, including the costs of compliance with the continuing reporting requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. However, if losses occur it may have to seek loans or equity placements to cover longer term cash needs to continue operations and expansion.

No commitments to provide additional funds have been made by management or other stockholders. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that any additional funds will be available to the Company to allow it to cover operations expenses.

If future revenue declines, or operations are unprofitable, it will be forced to develop another line of business, or to finance its operations through the sale of assets it has, or enter into the sale of stock for additional capital, none of which may be feasible when needed. The Company has no specific management ability, nor financial resources or plans to enter any other business as of this date.

From the aspect of whether it can continue toward the business goal of maintaining and expanding the businesses in Canada and grow the new business of SMS services in China, it may use all of its available capital without generating a profit.

The effects of inflation have not had a material impact on its operation, nor is it expected to in the immediate future.

Market Risk:

The Company does not hold any derivatives or investments that are subject to market risk. The carrying values of any financial instruments, approximate fair value as of those dates because of the relatively short-term maturity of these instruments which eliminates any potential market risk associated with such instruments.

Future Trends:

For the Education Services side, we have operated for over a year now, the competition is very fierce in the market. The Canadian government has tighten its budget on English training for new immigrants, which leads to reduced government funding for Windsor, this will have negative effects to the revenue of Windsor Education Academy. The Canadian government also adopts more strict system to choose schools that can be funded by the government and every school needs to re-register with the government. There is no assurance that Windsor Education Academy will continue receiving government funding in the coming years.

Need for Additional Financing:

The Company believes it has sufficient capital to meet its short-term cash needs, including the costs of compliance with the continuing reporting requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. However, if losses continue it may have to seek loans or equity placements to cover longer term cash needs to continue operations and expansion.

No commitments to provide additional funds have been made by management or other stockholders. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that any additional funds will be available to the Company to allow it to cover operations expenses.

From the aspect of whether it can continue toward the business goal of maintaining and expanding the businesses in Canada and develop new business of SMS services in China, it may use all of its available capital without

The effects of inflation have not had a material impact on its operation, nor is it expected to in the immediate future.

The Company maintains controls and procedures designed to ensure that it is able to collect the information it is required to disclose in the reports it files with the SEC, and process, summarize, and disclose this information within the time periods specified in the rules of the SEC. The Company's Chief Executive and Chief Financial Officers are responsible for establishing and maintaining these procedures and, as required by the rules of the SEC, evaluate their effectiveness.

Our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, have evaluated the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act")) as of the end of the period covered by this report. The evaluation included control areas in which we intend to make, changes to improve and enhance controls. Based on such evaluation, our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have concluded that, as of the end of such period, our disclosure controls and procedures were not effective because of a material weakness as discussed below.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

The Company maintains a system of internal controls designed to provide reasonable assurance that: transactions are executed in accordance with management's general or specific authorization; transactions are recorded as necessary (1) to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, and (2) to maintain accountability for assets; access to assets is permitted only in accordance with management's general or specific authorization; and the recorded accountability for assets is compared with the existing assets at reasonable intervals and appropriate action is taken with respect to any differences.

Material Weakness in Disclosure Controls

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions.

The Securities and Exchange Commission rulemaking for Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, requires that a company's internal controls over financial reporting be based upon a recognized internal control framework. While the Company has an internal controls and procedures manual in place, and management believes the controls and procedures are effective, the manual concerning the Company's Subsidiary, Beijing QuickNet, was not based upon the recognized (COSO) internal control framework, because we had not found one that fit the limited scope of our operations.

These areas were in expenditure approval and documentation in the Beijing Quicknet subsidiary and in the recording and tracking of subscription revenue in the Beijing Quicknet subsidiary. Accordingly, we determined this to be a material weakness.

This material weakness in the Company's disclosure controls and procedures was identified by management and its internal accountants after the first quarter of 2005 as they were preparing the first quarter financial statements for review. This was a precaution to ensure the Company's foreign operations were in compliance with all controls and procedures necessary to have accurate financials. This material weakness did not have an effect on the Company's financial statements. Notwithstanding the discovery of such material weakness, management continues to believe that its disclosure controls and procedures were effective at December 31, 2004, because during the course of the preparation of the financial statements for the December 31, 2004 audit, the Company did not find any significant financial discrepancies or disclosures discrepancies from its internal statements or quarterly statements.

Furthermore, during the first half of the Company's fiscal year ending December 31, 2004 management rectified this material weakness by revising the Company's internal controls and procedures manual basing this revision upon a model framework created by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (or "COSO") as is appropriate to our operations. This framework is entitled Internal Control-Integrated Framework. The COSO Framework, which is the common shortened title, was published in 1992 and we believe, will satisfy the Securities and Exchange Commission requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.

In order to cure the material weakness described above, the following changes in our internal controls over financial reporting (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) under the Exchange Act) were implemented in our manual during our first fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting:

- A. Expenditure controls/approvals and documentation by Board Committee for the subsidiary in China, Beijing Quicknet; and
- B. Subscription accounting and tracking for its subsidiary in China, Beijing QuickNet.

All changes are expected to be fully implemented by year end 2005.

During the first half of the Company's fiscal year ending December 31, 2005 management will be revising the Company's internal controls and procedures document basing this revision upon a model framework created by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (or "COSO") as is appropriate to our operations. This framework is entitled Internal Control-Integrated Framework. The COSO Framework, which is the common shortened title, was published in 1992 and we believe, will satisfy the Securities and Exchange Commission requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.

To address this material weakness management is committed to re-writing its internal controls and procedures manual based upon the Treadway Commission report as is appropriate to our operations during the first half of fiscal year ending December 31, 2005.

Except as noted above, there have not been any changes in our internal control over financial reporting (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) under the Exchange Act) during our first fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.
