CURRENT REPORT ON FORM 8-K

Edgar Filing: NEW YORK COMMUNITY BANCORP INC - Form 8-K

Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On March 3, 2006, New York Community Bancorp, Inc. (the "Company") entered into employment agreements with Joseph R. Ficalora, President and Chief Executive Officer; Robert Wann, Senior Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer; Thomas R. Cangemi, Senior Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer; James J. Carpenter, Senior Executive Vice President and Chief Lending Officer; and John J. Pinto, Executive Vice President and Chief Accounting Officer, and on March 9, 2006, with Michael F. Manzulli, Chairman of the Board of Directors. The agreements, which are identical in form, replace, and supersede prior separate agreements between each officer and the Company and each officer and the Company's principal subsidiary, New York Community Bank. While the material terms of the new agreements are generally similar to the terms of the prior agreements, the new agreements reflect the Board of Directors' decision to standardize the terms of employment for the Company's senior management team to eliminate differences among the prior agreements that reflected the use of different forms of agreement with executives who commenced employment at different times and under different circumstances.

The new agreements provide for a term of three years with daily extension of the initial term for an additional day, unless either party provides notice of an election to discontinue such extensions. In addition, each agreement specifies the executive's position(s) with the Company and reporting responsibilities.

The respective agreements specify the executive's current level of base salary as the initial base salary and provide for annual salary review. Each executive is eligible to participate in the Company's executive and incentive compensation programs as well as benefit plans that are generally available to the Company's employees. The respective agreements further provide that the executive is entitled to reimbursement for reasonable and documented business expenses.

In the event of the executive's termination of employment without cause or in circumstances consistent with a constructive termination (defined as termination for "good reason" in the agreement), the respective agreements provide that the executive would receive a lump sum payment equal to three times the executive's highest total compensation (excluding income attributable to the exercise of stock options) in one of the three calendar years preceding termination of employment and continuation of employee welfare benefit plan coverage for 36 months. In addition, (i) the executive would receive a payment equal to the retirement plan benefits that would have been credited to the executive over the remaining term of the agreement (based on the average retirement plan benefits the executive received over the three years preceding termination of employment); and (ii) all unvested stock compensation awards would fully vest. If the payments made to the executive under these provisions of the agreement are subject to the excise tax under Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), the agreement provides for an additional payment to the executive in an amount sufficient to provide the executive with an after-tax amount equal to the excise tax. In addition, the timing of such payments is subject to compliance with the requirements of Section 409A of the Code.

In the event of the executive's termination by reason of disability, the Company is obligated to continue the executive's base salary at specified levels with a reduction for benefits paid by the Company's group disability program. The agreement does not provide for the payment of any severance benefits if the executive terminates employment by reason of death or is discharged for cause
