Section 1 – Conflict Minerals Disclosure

Item 1.01 Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

This Conflict Minerals Report (the “Report”) of QuickLogic Corporation (“QuickLogic” or the “Company”) has been prepared pursuant to Rule 13p-1 and Form SD (the “Rule”) promulgated under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, for the reporting period January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2015 and attached as Exhibit 1.01 to this Form SD.

The Rule requires disclosure of certain information when a company manufactures or contracts to manufacture products and the minerals specified in the Rule are necessary to the functionality or production of those products. The specified minerals referred to as “Conflict Minerals” are gold, columbite-tantalite (coltan), cassiterite and wolframite, including their derivatives which are limited to tantalum, tin and tungsten. The “Covered Countries” for purposes of the Rule and our Report are the Democratic Republic of Congo (the “DRC”), the Republic of Congo, the Central African Republic, South Sudan, Uganda, Rwanda, Burundi, Tanzania, Zambia and Angola.

We develop and market low power customizable semiconductor solutions that enable Original Equipment Manufacturers (“OEMs”) to maximize battery life for highly differentiated, immersive user experiences with Smartphone, Wearable, Tablet and Internet-of-Things devices. We deliver these benefits through industry leading ultra-low power customer programmable System on Chip (“SoC”) semiconductor solutions, embedded software, and algorithm solutions for always-on voice and sensor processing, and enhanced visual experiences. We are a fabless semiconductor company that provides comprehensive, flexible sensor processing solutions, ultra-low power display bridges, and ultra-low power Field Programmable Gate Arrays, or FPGAs. As a semiconductor company, we have concluded that Conflict Minerals are necessary to the functionality or production of our products.

Our products are manufactured by our industry recognized suppliers in accordance with our specifications. As detailed in our Report, we conducted in good faith a reasonable country of origin inquiry (“RCOI”) reasonably designed to determine if any of these Conflict Minerals originated in the Covered Countries and whether any of the Conflict Minerals may be from recycled or scrap sources. Our RCOI primarily consisted of submitting the Conflict Minerals Reporting Template (“CMRT”) prepared by the Conflict Free Sourcing Initiative (“CFSI”), an initiative of the Electronic Industry Citizenship Coalition and Global eSustainability Initiative (“EICC-GeSI”) to the first tier contract manufacturers of our devices in 2015. Responses were reviewed for completeness, reasonableness and consistency, and we routinely followed up with our contract manufacturers for corrections and clarifications. During 2015, we renewed our membership with CFSI, the industry initiative which audits the due diligence activities of smelters and refiners and we contracted with a third party vendor (Source Intelligence) to analyze the CMRTs provided to us. Through our membership in the CFSI, we receive their RCOI data which we also relied upon when reviewing the information provided to us by our first tier contract manufacturers.

We submitted this template to six contract manufacturers which represents 100% of our contract manufacturers. Of these responding contract manufacturers, 100% indicated one or more of the Conflict Minerals as necessary to the functionality or production of the products supplied.
