Dear Stockholder:

We cordially invite you to attend our 2003 Annual Meeting of Stockholders. The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. on May 20, 2003, in the William M. Allen Theater at The Museum of Flight in Seattle.

We encourage you to participate at this meeting, but whether or not you plan to attend, please complete and submit your proxy as soon as possible. You can vote over the Internet, by telephone or by mail. Your opinion and your vote are important to us regardless of the number of shares you own. Voting by proxy will not prevent you from voting in person if you attend the meeting, but it will ensure that your vote is counted if you are unable to attend.

Recently, I announced my intention to retire in May after nearly 27 years with the Company. At the conclusion of the annual meeting, Bill Ayer will take over as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Alaska Air Group. I can think of no person better qualified to lead the Company forward, and I have every confidence that I am leaving the Company in good hands.

We look forward to visiting with you at the meeting and addressing your questions and comments.

Sincerely,

John F. Kelly
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer

ANNUAL MEETING INFORMATION

The Board of Directors of Alaska Air Group, Inc. (AAG or the Company) is soliciting proxies for this year's Annual Meeting of Stockholders. This proxy statement contains important information for you to consider when deciding how to vote on the matters brought before the meeting. Please read it carefully.

The Board set March 21, 2003, as the record date for the meeting. Stockholders who owned Company common stock on that date are entitled to vote at the meeting, with each share entitled to one vote. There were 26,605,733 shares of Company common stock outstanding on the record date.

Voting materials, which include this proxy statement, a proxy card and the 2002 Annual Report, were mailed to stockholders and made available via the Internet on or about April 14, 2003. The Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2002 is included in the 2002 Annual Report. It was filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and is available on the Company's website at www.alaskaair.com.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Why am I receiving this annual meeting information and proxy?

You are receiving this annual meeting information and proxy from us because you owned shares of common stock in Alaska Air Group as of the record date for the annual meeting. This proxy statement describes issues on which we would like you to vote and provides you with other important information so that you can make informed decisions.

You may own shares of Alaska Air Group common stock in several different ways. If you have one or more stock certificates in your possession, you also have a stockholder account with our transfer agent, EquiServe Trust Company, N.A., which makes you a stockholder of record. If you hold your shares in a brokerage account, you are a beneficial owner, not a stockholder of record. Employees of the Company may have shares of stock in one or more of the Company's 401(k) retirement plans or employee stock purchase plans.

When you sign and mail the proxy card or submit your proxy by telephone or the Internet, you appoint John F. Kelly and Keith Loveless as your representatives at the meeting. Mr. Kelly and Mr. Loveless will vote your shares at the meeting as you have instructed on your proxy. This way, your shares will be voted even if you cannot attend the meeting.

If an issue that is not on the proxy card comes up for vote at the meeting, Mr. Kelly and Mr. Loveless will vote your shares, under your proxy, in accordance with their best judgment.

What am I voting on?

You are being asked to vote on the election of three directors, a proposal to amend the Company's Certificate of Incorporation to remove the super-majority voting provision, and [7] stockholder proposals.

How does the Board of Directors recommend I vote on each of the proposals?

FOR the Board's director nominees,

FOR the proposal to amend the Certificate of Incorporation, and AGAINST the other proposals.

How do I cast my vote?

You may vote on the Internet.

You may vote via the Internet regardless of whether you receive your annual meeting materials through the mail or via the Internet. Instructions for doing so were provided with your proxy statement. If you vote on the Internet, please do not mail in your proxy card.

You may vote by phone.

Instructions for voting by phone were provided with your proxy statement. If you vote by telephone, please do not mail in your proxy card.

You may vote by mail.

Simply sign and date the proxy card or voting instruction form received with this proxy statement and mail it in the enclosed, prepaid and addressed envelope. If you mark your voting instructions on the card or voting instruction form, your shares will be voted as you instruct.

If you return a signed card but do not provide voting instructions, your shares will be voted in accordance with the recommendations of the Board of Directors, shown above.

You may vote in person at the meeting.

We will pass out a ballot to anyone who requests one at the meeting. If you hold your shares through a broker, you must bring a legal proxy in order to vote at the meeting. You may request a legal proxy from your stockbroker or at the Internet voting site to which your proxy materials direct you.

EquiServe's Internet and telephone voting facilities for stockholders of record and 401(k) plan participants will be available 24 hours a day, and will close at 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time on May 19, 2003. However, to allow sufficient time for voting by the trustee, voting instructions for 401(k) plan shares must be received by 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time on May 15, 2003.

The law of Delaware, under which the Company is incorporated, specifically permits electronically transmitted proxies, provided that each such proxy contains or is submitted with information from which the inspectors of election can determine that it was authorized by the stockholder. (General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, Section 212(c).) The voting procedures available to stockholders of record and participants in the Company's 401(k) plans are designed to authenticate each stockholder by use of a Control Number, to allow stockholders to vote their shares, and to confirm that their instructions have been properly recorded.

Can I receive future materials via the Internet?

If you vote on the Internet, simply follow the prompts for enrolling in the electronic proxy delivery service. This will reduce the Company's printing and postage costs, as well as the number of paper documents you will receive.

You also may enroll in that service at any time after the annual meeting. Stockholders of record can read additional information about this option and request electronic delivery by going to EquiServe's website, www.econsent.com/alk. Beneficial owners cannot use EquiServe's site, but should find information regarding the availability of this service in the proxy materials for this annual meeting. If you are a beneficial owner and do not find such instructions, please go to www.InvestorDelivery.com or contact your broker.

If you already receive your proxy materials via the Internet, you will continue to receive them that way until you instruct otherwise through one of the websites referenced above.

What does it mean if I receive more than one proxy card or email notification?

It means that you have more than one account for your AAG shares. Please complete and submit all proxies to ensure that all your shares are voted.

What if I change my mind after I submit my proxy?

You may revoke your proxy and change your vote at any time before the polls close at the meeting. You may do this by:

voting again by telephone or on the Internet (your latest telephone or Internet proxy is counted), signing another proxy card with a later date, or voting again at the meeting. (If you hold your shares through a broker, you must bring a legal proxy in order to vote at the meeting.)

Will my shares be voted if I do not submit my proxy?

If you are a stockholder of record and do not submit your proxy or vote in person at the meeting, your shares will not be voted. If you are a beneficial owner and you do not submit voting instructions to your broker, your broker may vote your shares under certain circumstances. Brokerage firms have discretionary authority under rules of the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) to vote customers' unvoted shares on routine matters. At this meeting, the only matter that is expected to be routine is Proposal 1, the election of directors. If the election of directors were to be contested, it could become a non-routine matter.

When a brokerage firm votes its customers' unvoted shares on routine matters, these shares are counted for purposes of establishing a quorum to conduct business at the meeting. However, brokers cannot vote those same shares on non-routine matters. A broker "non-vote" occurs when a broker holding shares for a beneficial owner does not vote them on a particular proposal because the broker does not have discretionary voting power for that proposal and has not received voting instructions from the beneficial owner. Broker non-votes will not be included in the number of shares present and entitled to vote with respect to any non-routine proposal and therefore will have no effect on the results of voting on that proposal.

How are shares voted that are held in a Company 401(k) plan?

The Alaska Air Group 401(k) trust includes Employee Stock Ownership Plan features. At the record date, 1,679,193 shares were held in the trust and may be voted by participants. The proxy card sent with this proxy statement by the Company's transfer agent, EquiServe, covers shares held in the 401(k) trust as well as shares held of record, if any. The trustee will vote the shares in accordance with instructions received from participants. The trustee will vote shares for which no instructions were received in the same proportion, for and against, as the shares for which instructions were received.

To allow sufficient time for voting by the trustee, your voting instructions for 401(k) plan shares must be received by 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time on May 15, 2003.

How many shares must be present to hold the meeting?

A majority of the Company's outstanding shares as of the record date must be present at the meeting in order to hold the meeting and conduct business. Shares are counted as present at the meeting if the stockholder votes in person at the meeting or if the shares are voted by proxy.

How many votes must the nominees have to be elected?

In the election of directors, the three nominees who receive the highest number of for votes will be elected.

What happens if a nominee is unable to stand for election?

The Board of Directors may reduce the number of seats on the Board, or the Governance and Nominating Committee of the Board may designate a substitute nominee. If the Committee designates a substitute, shares represented by proxies will be voted for the substitute nominee.

How many votes must the proposal to amend the Certificate of Incorporation receive in order to pass?

In order for this proposal to pass, 80 percent of the shares outstanding must be voted for the proposal.

How many votes must each of the stockholder proposals receive in order to pass?

A majority of the shares present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the meeting must be voted for each proposal in order for it to pass. However, all of the stockholder proposals are recommendations to the Board of Directors. They are not binding and do not take effect automatically, even if they receive the votes of holders of a majority of the shares present and entitled to vote at the meeting.

How are votes counted?

You may vote for or you may withhold authority to vote for each nominee for director. You may vote for or against or abstain on the other proposals.

If you abstain from voting on any proposal, the abstention has the same effect as a vote against such proposal. If you sign your proxy card without giving instructions for voting, your shares will be counted in accordance with the recommendations of the Board of Directors: for each Board nominee, for the proposal to amend the Certificate of Incorporation, and against each of the other proposals.

Voting results are tabulated and certified by our transfer agent, EquiServe Trust Company, N.A.

Who pays the costs of proxy solicitation?

The Company pays for distributing and soliciting proxies and reimburses brokers, nominees, fiduciaries and other custodians their reasonable fees and expenses in forwarding proxy materials to beneficial owners. The Company has engaged Georgeson Shareholder Communications Inc. (Georgeson) to assist in the solicitation of proxies for the meeting. The Company will pay Georgeson approximately $15,000 in fees for its services and will reimburse it for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses. Proxies may be solicited by personal interview, mail, telephone or other means. Proxies may also be solicited by directors, officers, employees and other agents of the Company, who will receive no additional compensation therefor except for reimbursement of expenses.

Is a list of stockholders entitled to vote at the meeting available?

A list of stockholders of record entitled to vote at the annual meeting will be available at the annual meeting. It will also be available for ten days prior to the annual meeting between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., local time, at the offices of the Corporate Secretary, 19300 Pacific Highway South, Seattle WA 98188. A stockholder of record may examine the list for any legally valid purpose related to the annual meeting.

Where can I find the voting results of the meeting?

We will publish the final results in our quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the second quarter of 2003. You can read or print a copy of that report by going to the Company's website, www.alaskaair.com and then choosing Company Information, Investor Information, and Securities and Exchange Commission Filings. You can find the same Form 10-Q by going directly to the SEC EDGAR files at www.sec.gov. You can also get a copy by calling us at (206) 431-5567, or by calling the SEC at (800) SEC-0330 for the location of a public reference room.

Specifically, a majority of the directors, and each member of the Audit Committee, Compensation Committee and Governance and Nominating Committee:

1. have not been employed by the Company within the last five years;
2. have not been employed by or otherwise affiliated with the Company's independent auditor within the last five years;
3. have not, within the last five years, been part of an interlocking directorate in which an executive officer of the Company serves on the compensation committee of another company that concurrently employs the director; and
4. otherwise have no material relationship with the Company.

With respect to the fourth standard, the Board considers that the following situations do not create material relationships:

- a) the receipt by a director of retirement compensation earned under one or more tax-qualified or nonqualified plans during the director's employment with the Company;
- b) ordinary-course business between the Company and an organization of which the Board member is an officer or director, where the amount of such business is immaterial with respect to the Company's or the organization's annual revenues; or
- c) the receipt of cash or in-kind contributions from the Company by a tax-exempt charitable organization of which the Board member is an officer or director, the value of which is immaterial with respect to the Company's or the charitable organization's annual revenues.

For the purposes of the four standards stated above, Company includes the Alaska Air Group's subsidiaries and other affiliates. In addition, the immediate family members of the independent directors meet the same standards. The members of the Audit Committee, in addition to the foregoing criteria, meet the proposed NYSE independence standard that they receive no compensation other than director's fees for Audit Committee service and permitted retirement pay.

EXECUTIVE SESSIONS AND LEAD DIRECTOR

The Board has for some time held executive sessions of non-management directors, and its current practice is to do so at least quarterly. As provided in the Governance and Nominating Committee Charter, the Lead Director for these executive sessions is the chairman of the Governance and Nominating Committee.

DIRECTOR COMPENSATION

We do not pay directors who are also employees of the Company any additional compensation for their service as directors, except for the reimbursement of expenses incurred in attending meetings. In 2002, compensation for nonemployee directors included the following:

an annual retainer of $20,000, with a minimum of 25% of the retainer paid in the form of Alaska Air Group common stock issued under the Company's Nonemployee Director Stock Plan (In connection with this practice, the Board has set stock ownership guidelines for directors.);

$1,200 for each Board or committee meeting in which a nonemployee director participated in person, or $750 if participation was via telephone;

an annual retainer of $2,000 to committee chairpersons;

an annual retainer of $1,000 to nonemployee directors who served on the Board of Directors of Alaska Airlines or Horizon Air; and reimbursement of expenses in connection with attending Board and committee meetings.

In addition, directors, their spouses and their dependent children are eligible for complimentary travel privileges on Alaska Airlines and Horizon Air.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS

The Company and its subsidiaries have transactions in the ordinary course of business with other corporations of which the Company's directors are executive officers. The amounts involved are below disclosure thresholds set by the SEC, and, in any case, the Company does not consider the amounts involved in such transactions to be material in relation to its business and believes that such amounts are not material in relation to the business of such other corporations or the interests of the directors involved.

SECTION 16(a) BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP REPORTING COMPLIANCE

Section 16(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 requires the Company's directors and certain of its officers to send reports of their ownership of Company common stock and changes in such ownership to the SEC and the NYSE. The Company assists its directors and officers by preparing forms for filing. SEC regulations also require the Company to identify in this proxy statement any person subject to this requirement who failed to file a report on a timely basis. Based on a review of copies of reports furnished to the Company and written representations that no reports were required, the Company believes that all of its directors and officers subject to Section 16(a) complied with the reporting requirements with respect to transactions during 2002.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS

Termination of Arthur Andersen LLP; Engagement of Deloitte & Touche LLP

On May 22, 2002, the Company dismissed Arthur Andersen LLP ("Andersen"), and engaged Deloitte & Touche LLP, as its independent auditors. This determination was recommended by the Audit Committee and approved by the Board of Directors.

The Company disclosed these events in a Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the SEC on May 28, 2002 (the "Form 8-K") and an amendment thereto filed on June 8, 2002, which included the following information:

Andersen's reports on the Company's financial statements for each of the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 did not contain an adverse opinion or disclaimer of opinion, nor were they qualified or modified as to uncertainty, audit scope or accounting principles.

During the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 and the interim period between December 31, 2001 and the dismissal of Andersen, there were no disagreements between the Company and Andersen on any matter of accounting principles or practices, financial statement disclosure or auditing scope or procedure which, if not resolved to Andersen's satisfaction, would have caused them to make reference to the subject matter of the disagreement in connection with their report for such years; and there were no reportable events as defined in Item 304(a)(1)(v) of Regulation S-K.

During the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 and the interim period between December 31, 2001 and the dismissal of Andersen, neither the Company nor anyone acting on its behalf consulted Deloitte & Touche LLP with respect to the application of accounting principles to a specified transaction, either completed or proposed, or the type of audit opinion that might be rendered on the Company's financial statements, or any other matters or reportable events listed in Items 304(a)(2)(i) and (ii) of Regulation S-K.

Andersen provided to the Company a letter addressed to the SEC stating that it agreed with the statements of the Company made in the Form 8-K in response to Item 304(a).

Selection of Independent Auditors for the Current Fiscal Year

The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors has selected Deloitte & Touche LLP as the Company's independent public auditors for the current fiscal year. Representatives of Deloitte & Touche LLP are expected to attend the meeting to respond to questions from stockholders and will have the opportunity to make a statement, if they wish to do so.

Fees to Independent Auditors

During fiscal year 2002, the Company retained its principal auditors, Arthur Andersen LLP and Deloitte & Touche LLP, to provide services in the following categories and amounts.

	Deloitte & Touche LLP	Arthur Andersen LLP	Total 2002
Audit Fees for the Company's Annual Financial Statements and Quarterly Reviews	$ 1,188,940	$91,132	$ 1,280,072
Audit-Related Fees ¹	0	30,000	30,000
Tax Fees ²	5,325	64,000	69,325
All Other Fees ³	132,900	24,600	157,500

¹ Fees for professional services in connection with the audit of Alaska Airlines 401(k) plans.

² Fees for professional services in connection with tax consulting, planning and tax return review.

³ Fees for professional services in connection with the audit of the security costs incurred as reported to the Transportation Security Administration, and accounting and reporting issues related to the airline government assistance.

The Audit Committee has considered whether the provision of the non-audit services referenced above is compatible with maintaining the independence of the Company's independent auditors, and has determined that it does not impact the independence of the auditors.

AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

The following report of the Audit Committee shall not be deemed to be soliciting material or to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or incorporated by reference in any document so filed.

Review of Our Company's Audited Financial Statements

The Audit Committee has reviewed and discussed with management and Deloitte & Touche LLP, the Company's independent auditors, the Company's audited financial statements included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002. We believe that management maintains an effective system of internal controls that results in fairly presented financial statements.

The discussions with Deloitte & Touche LLP also included the material and judgmental matters required by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61, Communication with Audit Committees, as amended, by the Auditing Standards Board of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

We have also received and reviewed the written disclosures and the letter from Deloitte & Touche LLP required by Independence Standard No. 1, Independence Discussions with Audit Committees, as amended, by the Independence Standards Board, and have discussed with Deloitte & Touche LLP their independence.

Based on the review and discussions described above, the Audit Committee recommended to the Board of Directors that the audited financial statements be included in Alaska Air Group's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

In this section, we describe the compensation we pay our Chief Executive Officer and the next four most highly compensated executive officers (the named executive officers). That group includes officers of Alaska Air Group and two elected officers of a subsidiary who have policy-making roles at the Alaska Air Group level. This section consists of:

- a report by the Compensation Committee on executive compensation,
- a graph showing comparative performance of the common stock,
- a detailed table showing compensation for the years 2002, 2001 and 2000, and
- information about stock options and retirement benefits.

This section also includes descriptions of certain change-in-control arrangements between the Company and the named executive officers.

COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT ON EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

During 2002, the Compensation Committee of the Company's Board of Directors consisted of Mr. Langland, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Fate, Mr. Rindlaub and Mr. Thompson. No member of the Committee was an employee of the Company or any of its subsidiaries. Each member meets the definition of nonemployee director under Rule 16b-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and is an outside director within the meaning of Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code.

The Committee has overall responsibility for the Company's executive compensation policies and practices. In part, the Committee's functions include:

- determining the compensation of the Chief Executive Officer of the Company;
- upon recommendation of the Chief Executive Officer, reviewing and approving all executive officers' compensation, including salary and payments under the Management Incentive Plan; and
- granting awards under stock incentive plans.

The Committee has provided the following report on the compensation policies of the Company as they apply to its executive officers and the relationship of Company performance to executive compensation and the Chief Executive Officer's compensation.

Executive Compensation Policy

The Company's policy is to pay competitive compensation. The objectives of the Company's executive compensation policies are:

- to attract and retain highly qualified executives,
- to motivate executives to provide excellent leadership and achieve Company goals,
- to link the interests of executives and stockholders by tying a large portion of total compensation to Company operational performance, profitability and stock value, and
- to reward outstanding performance.

Executive compensation includes competitive base salary, at-risk pay tied to annual financial and operational performance, equity-based awards and retirement benefits.

Annual Base Salary

In 2002, base salaries for executive officers were based on:

- subjective analysis of competitive market rates,
- the market demand for each executive officer's skills,
- the executive's influence on long-term Company strategies and success,
- the relationships among executive positions, and
- individual leadership performance.

To ensure that its overall compensation is competitive, the Company periodically reviews executive compensation for companies included in the Dow Jones Airlines Group contained in the Performance Graph on page 28, other air carriers and similarly sized Pacific Northwest companies and for companies in broad-based national compensation surveys. In addition, it retains the services of outside compensation specialists as needed. The Company does not attempt to set executive compensation at specific target ranges of any particular survey. In 2002, no elected officers of the Company or its subsidiaries received increases except those made in connection with promotions entailing additional responsibilities.

Management Incentive Plan

Air Group's Management Incentive Plan (MIP) places at risk a significant portion of each executive's potential cash compensation, linking it to annual profitability and operational goals.

For awards to be paid, the Company must achieve or exceed profit and/or operating goals established annually by the Compensation Committee. In 2000 and 2001, the Committee based MIP goals on reaching return-on-invested-capital targets and on the Company's net earnings growth as compared to that of peer companies. Beginning in 2002, the Committee based MIP goals on specific operating and financial performance measures. The measures include safety, customer satisfaction, aircraft schedule reliability, competitive cost and revenue goals and profitability. Awards increase proportionately based on the degree to which the various goals are met. In 2002, the CEO could earn up to 65% of base pay if the target is met, and up to 130% if the maximum is reached. The other named executives could earn up to 45% of base salary if the target goal is met, and up to 90% of base salary if profits reach the maximum goal, depending on position. Award levels can be adjusted by the Committee for individual performance.

For the executives named in the Summary Compensation Table on page 29, percentages of total potential cash compensation linked to performance under the MIP in 2002 ranged from 47.4% to 56.5%.

Equity-Based Awards

Although the shareholder-approved 1999 Long-Term Incentive Equity Plan provides for a variety of equity-based awards, stock options are the only equity-based compensation presently in use by the Company. They provide an incentive to maximize stock values, linking the long-term interests of executives with those of stockholders. Because the awards vest over several years, they encourage executives to remain with the Company. The Committee grants options at market price, so recipients benefit only if the price of the stock appreciates and stockholders also benefit.

The Committee does not base grants on ownership targets or on the number of options an individual has outstanding, because it believes doing so would discourage officers from retaining options or shares. Individual grants are determined according to base salary and position. The options granted to each of the named executives in 2002 are shown in the table on page 30.

Chief Executive Officer's Compensation

Base Salary In setting the CEO's base salary, the Committee reviews competitive information similar to that used for other Company executives and periodically retains the services of an outside consultant. The Committee does not target a specific range of competitive pay, but applies the information, as it deems appropriate. By reviewing survey data, the Committee believes it will remain mindful of compensation levels that would be required to recruit from outside the Company.

The Board of Directors conducts an annual evaluation of the CEO's performance based on:

- the Company's financial performance,
- the CEO's relationship with the Board,
- communication to the Board and other Company constituencies,
- investor relations,
- overall leadership, and
- strategic and succession planning.

Mr. Kelly has not accepted a salary increase since 2000. The Compensation Committee provides the following discussion of the Company's performance during 2002:

While the sluggish economy and the additional taxes and fees levied against airlines in the wake of 9-11 have challenged the entire industry, the Company continues to make strides in areas that it believes will translate over time into long-term shareholder value.

In 2002, Mr. Kelly and the Alaska Airlines and Horizon Air management teams embarked on a cost-cutting plan designed to position the Company to compete successfully, even in difficult economic times. The results of the first year's efforts resulted in Alaska Airlines unit costs, excluding fuel, decreasing by 2.4% from 2001 levels—exceeding the goal set for 2002. And, while available seat miles grew by 8% during 2002, full-time employee equivalents grew by only .3%. At Horizon Air, unit costs also improved by 14.5% over 2001 costs, excluding fuel.

Alaska Airlines was named Airline Technology Leader of the Year for 2001 by Air Transport World magazine in acknowledgement of the Company's efforts to improve customer service through continued technological enhancements. During 2002, these enhancements included a new airport of the future passenger check-in procedure, which debuted in Anchorage this year. In addition, the Company's satellite-based Required Navigation Performance (RNP) precision guidance approach procedure, developed by Alaska Airlines in cooperation with the FAA, has been implemented at San Francisco International and Reagan National in Washington, D.C.

A solid recovery strategy, combined with Alaska Air Group's strong cash reserves and balance sheet, position the Company well for the future. Alaska Air Group ended the year with cash and marketable securities reserves equal to 28.5% of revenues and an adjusted debt-to-capitalization ratio of 77% second best among the major airlines on both counts. In addition, although the average stock price for the industry has suffered significantly over the past two years, the Company's stock performance since 9-11 has remained second best among the major airlines.

In summary, although the financial results for the year are far from what we would expect under normal conditions, the Company has fared better than most of its competitors and, we believe, is well positioned to benefit from an economic recovery.

Management Incentive Plan The MIP award is the portion of the CEO's compensation that most directly relates to the Company's financial and operational performance. Under the plan in effect during 2002, the CEO's award could range from zero if performance was below threshold to 65% of base salary if all of the operating and financial targets were met, up to a maximum of 130% if maximum goals were reached on all measures. Mr. Kelly's 2002 MIP payment was $111,930.

Stock Options Mr. Kelly was granted no stock options during 2002.

Other Information: Tax Law Limits on Deductibility of Executive Compensation

Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code eliminates the Company's ability to deduct certain compensation over $1 million paid to the named executives unless such compensation is based on performance objectives meeting certain criteria or is otherwise excluded from the limitation. The Company intends to qualify a sufficient amount of compensation to its executive officers so that Section 162(m) will not materially affect the Company in an adverse way. Compensation from the exercise of options granted to date under the Company's stock option and equity plans is intended to qualify for the deduction.

² Includes the value of personal benefits, imputed interest, and tax gross-ups for the imputed income in connection with certain of those benefits. Personal benefit totals that exceed the lesser of $50,000 or 10% of a named executive's salary plus bonus in each of the past three years are shown. Mr. Bagley's 2000 compensation includes $10,019 in connection with his automobile and $24,343 in connection with executive travel. Compensation for Mr. Saretsky includes $10,995 for automobile and $15,183 for executive travel in 2000; $14,021 for automobile and $11,549 for executive travel in 2001; $14,526 for automobile expenses and $20,609 for executive travel in 2002. Mr. Tilden's 2000 compensation includes $11,950 relating to his automobile and $10,359 in connection with executive travel; his 2001 compensation includes $14,287 for automobile expense and $9,212 in connection with executive travel; and his 2002 compensation includes $12,900 for automobile expenses and $12,383 in connection with executive travel.

- ³ Represents Company-paid contributions to individual 401(k) plan accounts and imputed income for the value (as determined by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS)) of a term life insurance benefit provided by the Company. In 2002, 401(k) contributions were $6000 each for Messrs. Kelly, Ayer, Saretsky, and Tilden and $4,179 for Mr. Bagley. Imputed income for term life insurance during 2002 was as follows: Mr. Kelly, $2,322; Mr. Ayer, $810; Mr. Bagley, $1,892; Mr. Saretsky, $384 and Mr. Tilden, $358.

- ¹ These options were granted under the 1999 Long-Term Incentive Equity Plan. They generally were granted as incentive stock options, subject to limitations imposed by tax law, were granted at an exercise price equal to 100% of the fair market value of the common stock on the date of grant, expire ten years from the date of grant, unless canceled earlier as a result of termination of employment, vest in 25% increments on each anniversary date of the grant, subject to the terms and conditions of the 1999 Long-Term Incentive Equity Plan, and provide for accelerated vesting under certain circumstances, as described under "Change-in-Control Arrangements" on page 36.

- ² The percentages shown in this column appear disproportionately high because the annual grant of options that would normally have been made to eligible employees in 2002 was made in November 2001. The grants to the named executive officers in 2002 were special grants made in connection with promotions that entailed additional responsibilities.

- ³ Options were granted at the closing prices on January 30, 2002 and May 31, 2002, as reported on the NYSE.

- ⁴ The 5% and 10% assumed rates of appreciation over a ten-year period are required by SEC rules. This does not represent the Company's estimate or projection of the future common stock price. If the Company's common stock does not appreciate, these executives will receive no benefit from the options.

RETIREMENT BENEFITS
Salaried Retirement Plan

The Company maintains a tax-qualified, defined-benefit retirement plan for all salaried Alaska Airlines employees, in which the named executive officers participate. Benefits payable under the Alaska Airlines Salaried Retirement Plan (Salaried Retirement Plan) are based on years of credited service and final average earnings for the five highest complete and consecutive calendar years of an employee's last ten years of service. The annual retirement benefit at age 62 (normal retirement age under the Salaried Retirement Plan) is equal to 2% of the employee's final average earnings times years of credited service. Annual benefits are computed on a straight life annuity basis at normal retirement age. Benefits under the Salaried Retirement Plan are not subject to offset for Social Security benefits.

The following table shows estimated Salaried Retirement Plan annual benefits payable to an employee, assuming retirement on January 1, 2003, at age 62, with various combinations of final average earnings and years of credited service. These estimates represent the straight life annuity benefit for an individual who retires at normal retirement age.

IRS regulations limit the covered compensation on which annual retirement benefits are based; the limit is $200,000 in 2003. IRS regulations also limit the annual benefits that may be paid from a tax-qualified retirement plan; the benefit limit is $160,000 in 2003. To the extent that the amounts shown in the table below exceed the IRS limitations, the excess for Mr. Kelly and Mr.

Bagley, but not the other named executive officers, will be paid from the Officers Supplementary Retirement Plan, described below.

Final Average Compensation	Annual Benefits Based on Years of Credited Service
	15	20	25	30	35

$650,000	195,000	260,000	325,000	390,000	455,000

All of the participants' base salaries, but not bonuses, as shown in the Summary Compensation Table, are covered under the Salaried Retirement Plan and the Officers Supplementary Retirement Plan. The named executives have the following years of credited service and final average compensation as of December 31, 2002.

Named Executive	Years of Credited Service	Final Average Compensation
John F. Kelly	26.3 ²	$ 514,523
William S. Ayer	7.3	338,754
George D. Bagley ¹	9.1 ²	253,136
Gregg A. Saretsky	4.8	229,709
Bradley D. Tilden	11.8	176,887

¹ When Mr. Bagley transferred from Alaska Airlines to Horizon Air in October 1995, he was 100% vested under the Salaried Retirement Plan. Horizon Air does not have a similar plan, but will supplement his benefits to ensure that his retirement benefit will be equivalent to what he would have received had he continued with Alaska Airlines.

² Reflects combined service at Alaska Airlines and Horizon Air since becoming eligible for the Salaried Retirement Plan.

Officers Supplementary Retirement Plan

In addition to the benefits described above, under the Officers Supplementary Retirement Plan (Supplementary Plan), elected officers of Alaska Air Group and Alaska Airlines and Horizon Air's Chief Executive Officer can receive retirement benefits, provided they have met service requirements. The Supplementary Plan is a nonqualified, unfunded, noncontributory defined-benefit plan. Normal retirement benefits are payable once the officer reaches age 60 and are based on years of service as an elected officer. Annual benefits are calculated on a straight life annuity basis. Under the version of the Supplementary Plan applicable to officers elected prior to August 8, 1995 (including Mr. Kelly and Mr. Bagley), benefits can be up to 50% of a participant's final average compensation, offset by Social Security benefits. In addition, those participants are eligible to receive retirement benefits in excess of the IRS limitations applicable to the Salaried Retirement Plan. Under the version of the Supplementary Plan applicable to officers elected on or after August 8, 1995 (including Messrs. Ayer, Saretsky and Tilden), benefits can range from 50% to 75% of a participant's final average earnings, offset by Social Security benefits and by benefits from Company-sponsored qualified retirement plans accrued after the officer becomes a participant in the Supplementary Plan. Those participants are not eligible for benefits in excess of the IRS limitations. Benefits under both versions of the Supplementary Plan are subject to vesting schedules that are dependent on the officer's length of service.

CHANGE-IN-CONTROL ARRANGEMENTS

Agreements are in place at Alaska Airlines and Horizon Air to provide severance pay to all executive officers and certain other key employees in the event they are terminated within 24 to 36 months after a change in control of the Company. Depending on the employee's position, the formula provides for payments of up to 24 or 36 months' salary plus bonus, as well as commensurate service credit under the Salaried Retirement Plan and the Supplementary Plan, as applicable, in keeping with the time elapsed between a takeover and termination. Because of these and other variables to be determined at the time of distribution, the value of this benefit cannot be determined at this time.

Some Company benefit plans provide for accelerated vesting in the case of a change in control. Under the Supplementary Plan applicable to officers elected prior to August 8, 1995, after a change in control, benefits become vested at the rate of 10% per year of a participant's service as an elected officer. Under the Supplementary Plan applicable to officers elected on or after August 8, 1995, benefits become fully vested upon a change in control. The benefit after a change in control is equal to 10% of final average earnings for each year of service as an elected officer up to and including the fifth year. For officers having five or more years of service as an elected officer, the benefit amount ranges from 50% to 75% of final average earnings, depending on length of service. Under all versions of the Supplementary Plan, the benefit remains subject to applicable offsets.

The Supplementary Plan provides that, after a change in control, benefits will not be forfeited if an individual is terminated (other than for dishonesty or criminal acts) or is later employed by a competitor. The value of this provision to the named executives cannot be determined at this time as the amount depends on a number of variables to be determined at the time of any change in control.

Upon a change in control of the Company, outstanding options under the Company's equity plans become fully exercisable unless the Board of Directors determines otherwise.

* Shares remaining available for issuance under the Nonemployee Director Stock Plan, described below.

The shares to be issued under plans not approved by stockholders relate to the Company's 1997 Long-Term Incentive Equity Plan and Nonemployee Director Stock Plan. These plans were adopted by the Board of Directors in 1997 and did not require stockholder approval because no grants to executive officers were allowed under the plans.

1997 Long-Term Incentive Equity Plan (the 1997 Plan)

The 1997 Plan terminated on November 3, 2002 and no further awards may be made. Awards granted before that date remain outstanding in accordance with their terms. Under the 1997 Plan, awards could be made to any employee of the Company who was not a director or officer subject to the reporting requirements of Section 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Awards could be made in the form of stock options, SARs or stock awards. The 1997 Plan is administered by the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors.

Nonemployee Director Stock Plan (the Directors Plan)

An aggregate of up to 25,000 shares of common stock was authorized for issuance under the Directors Plan. It remains in effect until all shares have been purchased or acquired or until terminated by the Board.

Each member of the Board of Directors of the Company who is not employed by the Company or its subsidiary is an eligible director. Each year on the first business day following that year's annual meeting of stockholders, a portion of an eligible director's annual retainer for services as a director for the coming year is paid in shares of common stock having a total value of $5,000.

In addition, each eligible director may elect to reduce his or her annual cash retainer and to receive instead a number of shares of common stock equal in value to the amount of the reduction on the same date the stock payment described above is made.

Directors have the right to vote and receive dividends on shares that have been issued under the Directors' Plan. The shares are not forfeited when participants leave the Board or otherwise become ineligible to continue in the Directors' Plan.

PROPOSAL NO. 2
AMEND THE CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION TO ELIMINATE THE 80% SUPER-MAJORITY VOTING REQUIREMENT

This proposal is sponsored by the Board of Directors.

The Company's 2000 Proxy Statement included a stockholder proposal recommending that the Board take the steps necessary to implement simple majority voting on all issues submitted to its stockholders. That proposal was approved by the holders of 65.7% of the stock present at the meeting, or 48% of the shares outstanding. In view of these results, the Board committed to examine the issue of super-majority voting in greater detail. As a consequence of that review, in 2001 the Board proposed an amendment to the Company's Certificate of Incorporation to delete Article 10, which contains a super-majority vote provision. At the 2001 Annual Meeting, that proposal received the votes of the holders of 73.1% of the shares outstanding. However, the proposal needed the votes of the holders of at least 80% of the shares outstanding in order to be approved, so it did not pass. The Board is proposing the amendment again for consideration at the 2003 Annual Meeting.

Article 10 currently reads as follows:

Special Voting. If this corporation has a controlling stockholder, the affirmative vote of the holders of not less than 80% of the outstanding shares of voting stock shall be required for this corporation to (a) consolidate with, or merge with any other corporation, (b) convey to any corporation or other person or otherwise dispose of all or substantially all of its assets, or (c) dispose of by any means all or substantially all of the stock or assets of any major subsidiary. For purposes of this Article, a controlling stockholder is a person who, including associates of such person, is the beneficial owner of more than 15% of the voting power of this corporation. This voting requirement shall not be applicable if 80% of the disinterested members (not representing or being associated with the controlling stockholder) of this corporation's full Board of Directors have voted in favor of the proposed consolidation, merger, conveyance, or disposition. If there is a controlling stockholder, this Article 10 can be amended only by the affirmative vote of 80% of the voting power of this corporation. Any determination made by the Board of Directors, on the basis of information at the time available to it, as to whether any person is an associate of a controlling stockholder, shall be conclusive and binding for all purposes of this Article 10.

The Board of Directors, when evaluating any offer of another party to (a) make a tender or exchange offer for any equity security of this corporation, (b) merge or consolidate this corporation with another corporation, or (c) purchase or otherwise acquire all or substantially all of the properties and assets of this corporation, shall, in connection with the exercise of its judgment in determining what is in the best interests of this corporation and its stockholders, give due consideration to all relevant factors, including, without limitation, the social and economic effects on the employees, customers and other constituents of this corporation.

Article 10 was designed to curb abusive takeover attempts. It was adopted in 1985, prior to the enactment of Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law (Section 203), a statutory provision also designed to curb abusive takeovers of Delaware corporations.

The Board believes that elimination of Article 10 will not adversely affect the Company or its stockholders, because the Company will continue to be protected under Section 203.

Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law

Like Article 10, Section 203 addresses the problem of abusive takeover attempts by preventing certain business combinations of a corporation with interested stockholders. Section 203 defines an interested stockholder as any person (other than the corporation and any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the corporation) that (a) is the owner of 15% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the corporation, or (b) is an affiliate or associate of the corporation and was an owner of 15% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the corporation at any time within the three-year period immediately prior to the date a determination is sought on whether such person is an interested stockholder.

Section 203 prevents business combinations with interested stockholders within three years after such stockholders become interested unless (a) the business combination is approved by the board of directors before the person becomes an interested stockholder; (b) the interested stockholder acquired 85% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the corporation in the same transaction that makes such person an interested stockholder; or (c) the business combination is approved by the corporation's board of directors and by the holders of at least 66-2/3% of the corporation's outstanding voting stock at an annual or special meeting, excluding shares owned by the interested stockholder. Section 203 is intended to have a deterrent effect on the ability or desire of third persons to acquire a substantial block of a corporation's voting stock and to attempt to gain control of the corporation without negotiating directly with its board.

Classified Board of Directors

In addition to the protection of Section 203, the Company has a classified or staggered Board of Directors. While there are additional reasons for preferring a classified board, as discussed in the Board's Response to Proposal 5, below, it may also encourage a bidder to negotiate a fair price in the event of a hostile takeover bid.

Under the Company's Certificate of Incorporation, as approved by the stockholders, the Board is divided into three classes with directors elected to serve three-year terms. Approximately one-third of the directors stand for election each year. With a classified board of directors, at least two annual stockholder meetings will be required to effect a change in control of the Board, thus giving the incumbent directors the time and leverage necessary to evaluate the adequacy and fairness of any takeover proposal, negotiate on behalf of stockholders and weigh alternative methods of maximizing stockholder value for all stockholders.

These protections are not designed or intended to prevent an unsolicited, non-abusive offer to acquire the Company at a fair price. Potential acquirers will be encouraged by these protections to negotiate directly with the Board. In the Board's view, these protections will provide the Board adequate flexibility in any negotiations and will enhance the Board's ability to negotiate the highest possible bid from a potential acquirer.

Generally speaking, takeover attempts that have not been negotiated by the Board can seriously disrupt business, distract management, and cause great expense. Such attempts may take place at inopportune times and may involve terms which are less favorable to all the stockholders than would be available in a transaction negotiated and approved by the Board. On the other hand, Board-approved transactions can be carefully planned and undertaken at an opportune time in order to obtain maximum value for the corporation and all of its stockholders with due consideration given to such matters as recognition or postponement of gain or loss for tax purposes, the management and business of the acquiring corporation or controlling stockholder, and the maximum strategic deployment of the Company's assets.

Vote Required for Adoption

This Proposal 2 will be adopted only if 80 percent of the shares outstanding are voted for the proposal. This percentage is required by Section 242(b)(4) of the Delaware General Corporation Law, which reads as follows:

Whenever the certificate of incorporation shall require for action by the board of directors, by the holders of any class or series of shares or by the holders of any other securities having voting power the vote of a greater number or proportion than is required by any section of this title, the provision of the certificate of incorporation requiring such greater vote shall not be altered, amended or repealed except by such greater vote.

In the absence of a provision requiring the vote of a greater number or proportion, Section 216(2) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides

In all matters other than the election of directors, the affirmative vote of the majority of shares present in person or represented by proxy at a meeting and entitled to vote on the subject matter shall be the act of the stockholders ...

The Board believes that this proposal is in the best interests of the stockholders and represents a good faith effort to be responsive to the wishes of its stockholders, as expressed by the voting results of previous annual meetings.

If stockholders approve the proposal, the Board will cause a Certificate of Amendment of the Certificate of Incorporation to be filed with the Secretary of the State of Delaware as soon as practicable after such approval is final.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS A VOTE FOR PROPOSAL 2.

PROPOSAL NO. 3

STOCKHOLDER PROPOSAL ON SIMPLE-MAJORITY VOTE

John Chevedden, 2215 Nelson Avenue, No. 205, Redondo Beach, California 90278, who has beneficial ownership of 200 shares of the Company's stock, has advised the Company that he intends to present the following resolution at the annual meeting. In accordance with applicable proxy regulations, the proposed resolution and supporting statement, for which the Board of Directors and the Company accept no responsibility, are set forth below.

Stockholder Resolution

Adopt the Simple-Majority Vote Topic which Shareholders Approved by 96% to 4% a 92% Margin

Alaska Air shareholders recommend that our company take the steps necessary to implement a simple-majority vote policy. This policy has key elements of Alaska Air's proposal that won 96% shareholder support and includes:

Application to all issues submitted to shareholder vote to the fullest extent possible.

A policy of the greatest flexibility to implement the spirit and the letter of this topic to the fullest extent possible and as soon as possible.

Any future simple/super-majority proposal be put to shareholder vote as a separate ballot item.

Our directors announce their commitment to make their best effort to implement this policy within 30-days of this annual meeting, with the resources available to our directors, and then meet this commitment.

Thus our company is to make its best effort to obtain the high number of votes needed from all the shares in existence.

Proponent's Supporting Statement

An overwhelming 96% of the yes-no shareholder vote

This topic won an overwhelming 96% of the yes-no shareholder vote at our company in 2001. I believe our directors can make a better effort to encourage more shareholders to vote in order to adopt this proposal topic.

A start to improve the governance profile of our company

I believe that when more than one item can be improved that starting with at least one improvement should receive increased attention. Specifically, at Alaska Air there are current practices that institutional investors believe could be improved such as allowing:

Limited shareholder right to amend our company's bylaws.

Limited shareholder right to amend our company's charter.

A simple-majority vote to approve a merger.

YES ON 3

Board of Directors Response

The Board of Directors recommends a vote AGAINST this proposal as presented for the following reasons.

The Board is sponsoring Proposal 2, which would have a binding effect. The Board is again proposing the amendment of the Certificate of Incorporation to remove the only super-majority vote provision it contains. Proposal 2 is a binding proposal that if approved will take effect a few days after the annual meeting, when the amendment is filed with the State of Delaware. Proposal 3 is only a recommendation.

We believe Proposal 3 is unclear. It does not say whether the simple majority should be measured by the shares present and entitled to vote at the meeting, the votes actually cast on an issue at the meeting, or the shares outstanding. If the proposal intends that all matters be passed upon approval by a simple majority of the shares outstanding, this would make passage more difficult than it currently is for most issues that come before the stockholders. If, on the other hand, the proposal means that every proposal would be passed if it received a majority of the votes present and entitled to vote, the proposal would be in violation of Delaware law, which requires that certain issues be decided based on a majority of the shares outstanding. Given this lack of certainty as to the meaning of Proposal 3, it would be difficult for the Board to determine what action to take if it passed.

We believe Proposal 3 is inconsistent with Delaware law. Delaware law provides protections for all stockholders by requiring the affirmative vote of at least a majority of the shares outstanding and entitled to vote (contrasted with a majority of the shares present and entitled to vote at a meeting) for certain fundamental corporate actions, such as amending the certificate of incorporation, approving certain mergers, selling substantially all the Company's assets or dissolving the corporation.

Delaware law also contains several specific super-majority vote requirements for certain business combinations involving interested stockholders. These super-majority provisions, like those contained in the governance documents of many public corporations and many corporate statutes, are designed to provide protection for all stockholders against self-interested actions by one or a few large stockholders. These provisions are not intended to, and do not, preclude unsolicited, non-abusive offers to acquire the Company at a fair price. They are designed, instead, to encourage any potential acquirer to negotiate directly with the Board. This Board believes that this is desirable because it is in the best position to evaluate the adequacy and fairness of proposed offers, to negotiate on behalf of all stockholders and to protect stockholders against abusive tactics during a takeover process.

We believe Proposal 3 is misleading. The sponsor of Proposal 3 submitted a proposal recommending simple-majority vote to the Company for the first time in 2000. That proposal was approved by the holders of a majority of the shares present and entitled to vote at the 2000 Annual Meeting. In response, the Board of Directors sponsored a proposal that appeared in the Company's 2001 Proxy Statement. That proposal, like this year's Proposal 2, would have amended the Company's Certificate of Incorporation to delete the 80% super-majority vote requirement contained in Article 10.

Proposal 3 refers to its topic winning 96% of the yes-no stockholder vote in 2001. The Board believes this to be misleading because the proposal that won 96% support at the 2001 Annual Meeting was the Board's proposal (identical to this year's Proposal 2), not the proposal on simple-majority vote that was submitted by the proponent of this year's Proposal 3.

The Board of Directors' proposal would have been approved if at least 80% of the total shares outstanding as of the record date for the 2001 Annual Meeting had voted in favor of the proposal. Under Delaware law, the 80% voting requirement cannot be removed from the Certificate of Incorporation without the approval of at least 80% of all the shares outstanding. Although 96% of the shares present at the 2001 Annual Meeting were voted for approval, that constituted only 73% of the total shares outstanding.

PROPOSAL NO. 4
STOCKHOLDER PROPOSAL ON SALE OF THE COMPANY

Steve Nieman, 15240 N.E. 181st Loop, Brush Prairie, Washington 98606, who has beneficial ownership of 750 shares of the Company's stock, has advised the Company that he intends to present the following resolution at the annual meeting. In accordance with applicable proxy regulations, the proposed resolution and supporting statement, for which the Board of Directors and the Company accept no responsibility, are set forth below.

Stockholder Resolution
Maximize Value Resolution

Resolve that the shareholders of Alaska Air Group ("AAG") urge the Board of Directors to arrange the prompt sale of AAG to the highest bidder.

Proponent's Supporting Statement

The purpose of this Maximize Value Resolution is to give all AAG shareholders the opportunity to send a message to AAG's Board of Directors that they support the prompt sale of AAG to the highest bidder.

I believe a strong, and/or a majority vote by the shareholders would indicate to the Board of Directors the displeasure felt by the shareholders of the shareholder return over many years, and the drastic action that should be taken. Even if it is approved by the AAG shares represented and entitled to vote at the annual meeting this Maximize Value Resolution will not be binding on the AAG Board of Directors. The proponent however, believes that if this resolution receives substantial support from the shareholders, the Board of Directors may choose to carry out the request set forth in the resolution.

The prompt auction of AAG should be accomplished by any appropriate process the Board of Directors chooses to adopt, which could include a sale to the highest bidder whether in cash, stock, or a combination of both. However, I believe that the highest bid will include the meaningful, substantial, direct, fair and equal participation of all employees of AAG, as AAG employees own, if not the largest, then certainly one of the largest blocks of AAG stock outside of institutional ownership.¹

I am confident the Board of Directors will uphold its fiduciary duty to the utmost. I further believe that if the resolution is adopted, the management and the Board of Directors will interpret such adoption as a message from AAG shareholders that it is no longer acceptable for the Board of Directors to continue with its current management plan and strategies.

Maximize Value Resolution Vote Yes on 4

¹ WSJ.com Key Facts on Jan. 10, 2003 stated that the AAG Inc. is 81.02% owned by Institutions. The AAG's 2002 Annual Stockholders Meeting and Proxy Statement page 6 states that 1,374,626 shares (5.2%) are allocated for employees to the AAG 401(k) trust.

Board of Directors Response

The Board of Directors unanimously recommends a vote AGAINST this proposal.

The Board believes that a hasty sale to the highest bidder would put the Board in the worst possible bargaining position and restrict the Board's ability to examine all strategic alternatives. At times, especially under current difficult economic conditions, a company's market value can be significantly different from its intrinsic or long-term value. These conditions require that the development, selection and implementation of the best strategic alternatives be done with great care to avoid jeopardizing stockholders' long-term interests.

The Board continually monitors the Company's business and strategies, as well as developments in the business environment in which the Company operates. This puts the Board in the best and most informed position to consider all the options that may be available to the Company.

The Board recognizes the preeminence of its fiduciary duties to the stockholders and believes this proposal would compromise the ability of the Board to fulfill those duties. The Board of Directors is elected by the stockholders to direct the management of the business and affairs of the Company. Increasing stockholder value is considered by the Board to be an important component of that duty and is a consideration in all deliberations of the Board and management.

The Board believes that the proposal would not be in the best interests of stockholders, and contrary to the title of the proposal, would not maximize value to the stockholders. It believes that approval of this proposal would cause increased uncertainty regarding the Company's future, which would undermine confidence in the Company and adversely affect its relationships with employees, customers and vendors. Such results would have an adverse impact on the Company's ability to compete effectively in the short and long run, leading to a decline in stockholder value.

This proposal was submitted by an employee of Horizon Air who is the founder and president of the Horizon/Alaska Customer/Employees Co-Ownership Association, Inc. That organization, referred to as HACECA, has stated its goal to be raising money to promote the advantages of an employee and customer buyout of Horizon and Alaska Airlines. It appears to the Board that HACECA is acting in its own interest and not that of all the stockholders.

The Board believes that putting the Company in play by soliciting bids is a serious action that stockholders, and especially employees, may regret. Corporate takeovers are frequently followed by major lay-offs, as new managers attempt to produce quick profits. Loss of experienced employees may then produce long-term decline in results.

Calling for sale of the Company should not be undertaken lightly as a means to send a message of dissatisfaction with the market price of its stock.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS
A VOTE AGAINST PROPOSAL 4.

PROPOSAL NO. 5
STOCKHOLDER PROPOSAL ON ANNUAL ELECTION OF EACH DIRECTOR

William M. Richner, 14019 N.W. Eighth Avenue, Vancouver, WA 98685, who has beneficial ownership of 2912 shares of the Company's stock, has advised the Company that he intends to present the following resolution at the annual meeting. In accordance with applicable proxy regulations, the proposed resolution and supporting statement, for which the Board of Directors and the Company accept no responsibility, are set forth below.

Stockholder Resolution
Elect Each Director Annually

Shareholders recommend that each director be elected annually. This proposal recommends that our company's governing documents be amended accordingly. This includes the bylaws.

Proponent's Supporting Statement
Strong Institutional Investor Support

Twenty-five (25) proposals on this topic won an overall 63% approval rate at major companies in 2002. Annual election of each director is a key policy of the Council of Institutional Investors.¹ Institutional investors own 81% of the stock in our company.²

Harvard Report

A 2001 Harvard Business School study found that good corporate governance practices, such as annual election of each director, were significantly related to company value. This study, conducted with the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, reviewed the relationship between the corporate governance index for 1,500 companies and company performance from 1990 to 1999.³

Some governance experts believe that a company with good governance will perform better over time, leading to a higher stock price. Others see good governance as a means of reducing risk, as they believe it decreases the likelihood of bad things happening to a company.

Serious about good governance

In a time of crises, a vigorous board can help minimize damage. When the recent bubble from the buoyant stock market burst, suddenly the importance of good corporate governance became crystal clear. I believe that the collapse of Enron and the corporate disasters that followed motivated many companies to get serious about good governance. This has included electing each director annually.

A look back at Business Week's inaugural ranking of the best and worst boards in 1996 tells the story. (This ranking did not include AAG.) For the three years after the list appeared, the stocks of companies with the best boards outperformed those with the worst boards by 2 to 1. Increasingly, institutional investors are flocking to stocks of companies perceived as being well governed and punishing stocks of companies seen as lax in oversight.⁴

The Board of Directors unanimously recommends a vote AGAINST this proposal.

The Board has considered the proposal and continues to believe that it is in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders to maintain the present system of electing directors.

As provided by the Company's Certificate of Incorporation, the Board of Directors is divided into three classes of approximately the same size. Each class serves a term of three years, with one class standing for election each year. This is commonly called a classified board.

The Board of Directors believes it is in the best interest of the Company and our stockholders to maintain a high level of experience and continuity within the Board. Each member needs an in-depth understanding of our business, future plans and strategic position. The classified structure of the Board is designed to ensure that directors have the opportunity to develop this level of experience. After each election, at least two-thirds of the Board have had one year or more of experience as a director of the Company. The structure also serves to prevent abrupt changes in corporate policy based on short-term objectives. The Board believes that a long-term focus maximizes stockholder value.

The Board believes that electing directors to three-year terms also protects the independence of non-management directors by insulating them against pressure from management or special interest groups who might have an agenda contrary to the long-term interests of all stockholders.

A classified board structure enhances that board's ability to negotiate the best results for stockholders in the event of a hostile takeover attempt. It encourages a person seeking to gain control to negotiate with the board because at least two annual stockholders meetings generally are required to effect a change in control of the board. This gives the incumbent directors the time and leverage necessary to evaluate the adequacy and fairness of a takeover proposal, negotiate on behalf of stockholders and weigh alternative methods of maximizing stockholder value for all stockholders. Historically, stockholders have received higher takeover premiums when potential acquirers have been forced to negotiate a fair deal with the board of directors.

The proposal would have you believe that the only way to ensure director independence and accountability is to declassify the board of directors. Yet the Harvard study the proposal cites did not show this. The study concerned the relationship between a hypothetical governance index and company value. The practice of annual election of directors by a company was just one of 24 factors that made up the governance index, and it is impossible to associate one factor with the index as a whole. The authors made no claim that the governance practices caused better performance.

We are not aware of any reason to believe that classified boards are less accountable to stockholders than non-classified boards. All directors have the same fiduciary duties to their companies and stockholders, regardless of the length of their term of office. Contrary to the proposal's implication, Enron Corporation does not have a classified board. It elects each director annually and has done so for many years, as shown by its proxy statements. Is Enron the example the Company should follow?

We are very much in favor of good corporate governance and continually examine our practices in light of the changing environment. However, it is not clear that the same practices are best for every company. One size does not necessarily fit all. Votes by stockholders at other companies are not the best basis for decisions by the stockholders of Alaska Air Group.

Approval of this proposal would require the affirmative vote of a majority of the shares of stock present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the annual meeting. However, such approval would not automatically repeal the Board of Directors classification provisions found in the Certificate of Incorporation. It would serve as a recommendation to the Board. Amending the Certificate of Incorporation to eliminate classification would require approval by the Board, and, in a separate vote, by the holders of at least a majority of the outstanding shares of stock, which is a higher threshold than the approval needed for this proposal.

Harvard Report

A 2001 Harvard Business School study found that good corporate governance (which took into account whether a company had a poison pill) was positively and significantly related to company value.² This study, conducted with the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, reviewed the relationship between the corporate governance index for 1,500 companies and company performance from 1990 to 1999.³

Certain governance experts believe that a company with good governance will perform better over time,⁴ leading to a higher stock price. Others see good governance as a means of reducing risk, as they believe it decreases the likelihood of bad things happening to a company.

Since the 1980s Fidelity, a mutual fund giant with $800 billion invested, has withheld votes for directors at companies that have approved poison pills.¹ This topic won an overall 60%-yes vote at 50 companies in 2002 based on yes-no votes cast.

The Council of Institutional Investors, an organization of 120 pension funds investing $1.5 trillion, called for shareholder approval of poison pills.⁵ In recent years, various companies have redeemed existing poison pills or sought shareholder approval for their poison pill. This includes Columbia/HCA, McDermott International and Airborne, Inc.⁶ While the AAG Board has removed the company's poison pill, it has not empowered shareholders to vote on this key issue.

I believe that our company should follow suit. This topic won an overall 60%-yes vote at 50 companies in 2002.¹

Board of Directors Response

The Board of Directors unanimously recommends a vote AGAINST this proposal, for the following reasons.

This proposal is unnecessary, as the Company does not have a shareholder rights plan. The Board of Directors terminated the former rights plan (sometimes called a poison pill) effective April 15, 2002, and is not contemplating the adoption of another plan.

The ability to adopt a rights plan is an important tool for protecting the interests of stockholders. A poison pill is a measure adopted to defend against a potential hostile takeover. It frequently takes the form of a plan authorizing the issuance of shares to stockholders with the right to be bought out by the corporation at a substantial premium upon the occurrence of a stated triggering event. That mechanism is intended to force the potential acquirer to negotiate with the board of the target company. Circumstances could arise in the future in which adoption of such a plan would be an important tool for protecting the interests of stockholders. If stockholder approval were required prior to the adoption of a plan, it could impede the ability of the Board to use such a plan for the benefit of stockholders.

Rights plans are not contrary to the interests of stockholders. In upholding the legal validity of shareholder rights plans (in Revlon v. MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings), the Delaware Supreme Court made it clear that a board of directors is required to act in accordance with its fiduciary duties of loyalty and care in adopting and maintaining a rights plan. As a result, rights plans neither prevent unsolicited proposals from being made nor prevent companies from being acquired at fair prices.

Studies have confirmed the economic benefits of rights plans to stockholders. A 1997 study by Georgeson & Company Inc., a nationally recognized proxy solicitation and investor relations firm, found that Premiums paid to acquire companies with rights plans averaged eight percentage points higher than premiums paid for target companies without rights plans.

A rights plan did not reduce the likelihood that a company would become a takeover target. The takeover rate was similar for companies with and without rights plans.

Weyerhaeuser received a proposal similar to this one in 2002. In its response in the proxy statement, Weyerhaeuser referred to its own acquisition of Willamette, stating as follows:

Willamette's rights plan, combined with its classified board structure, resulted in a substantial increase in our bid over what we initially offered Willamette shareholders, which Willamette shareholders likely consider in their best interest.

The Board believes that its ability to adopt a rights plan serves the best interests of the stockholders. In recommending a vote against this proposal, the Board has not decided that a rights plan should be adopted by the Company. The recommendation is based on the directors' belief that it would be unwise to curtail their ability to adopt a plan if it were in the best interests of the stockholders.

STOCKHOLDER PROPOSAL ON AN INDEPENDENT BOARD CHAIRMAN

John Furqueron, 708 N.W. Fifth Avenue, Battle Ground, Washington 98604, who has beneficial ownership of 1072 shares of the Company's stock, has advised the Company that he intends to present the following resolution at the annual meeting. In accordance with applicable proxy regulations, the proposed resolution and supporting statement, for which the Board of Directors and the Company accept no responsibility, are set forth below.

Stockholder Resolution
Independent Board Chairman

Many shareholders recommend that our Board of Directors amend the bylaws to require a strictly independent director, who is not the current or earlier CEO of our company, to serve as Chairman of our Board of Directors as soon as this can be implemented.

Proponent s Supporting Statement

The primary purpose of the Board of Directors is to protect shareholders interests by providing independent oversight of management, including the CEO. Many shareholders believe that a separation of the roles of Chairman and CEO will promote greater management accountability to shareholders at our company.

Corporate governance experts¹ have questioned how one person, serving as both Chairman and CEO, can effectively monitor and evaluate his or her own performance. Shareholders believe the current combination of chairman and CEO roles is a conflict of interest because one of the chairman s main functions is to monitor the CEO.

I know this really makes me popular with Corporate America, but I think every public company should separate the job of chairman, should have a nonexecutive chairman for the board. I ve seen it work well in many other countries. At the least, companies should have a strong lead director, but that s not an adequate substitute for a nonexecutive chairman, said Paul Volcker, former Chairman, Federal Reserve.

Two-thirds of directors favor splitting the roles of chairman and CEO. This is a way to reform the way corporations operate and prevent business collapses like Enron. Source: McKinsey & Co. corporate governance survey.³

Many shareholders believe that an independent Chairman will strengthen the Board s integrity and improve its oversight of management.

To ensure a check and balance oversight of our long-term investment:

Board of Directors Response

The Board of Directors unanimously recommends a vote AGAINST this proposal.

The Board believes that this proposal is unnecessary and is not in the best interests of stockholders. The Board has created a Governance and Nominating Committee, which is developing Corporate Governance Guidelines. The charter of the Governance and Nominating Committee (attached as Appendix C to this proxy statement) requires that all members of the Committee be independent directors as defined by the independence requirements of the NYSE and applicable law. The charter of the Governance and Nominating Committee also provides that the chairman of the Committee shall serve as Lead Director and shall preside over meetings of non-management directors conducted pursuant to the Corporate Governance Guidelines. The Board has for some time held executive sessions of non-management directors, and its current practice is to do so at least quarterly. The Lead Director is also responsible for leading the non-management directors' annual evaluation of the Chief Executive Officer.

Furthermore, the Compensation Committee of the Board is responsible for setting the compensation of the Chief Executive Officer and other elected officers. The Compensation Committee charter (attached as Appendix B to this proxy statement) also provides that all of the Committee's members shall meet the independence requirements of the NYSE and applicable law.

Contrary to the proposal's suggestion, the Chairman of the Company does not evaluate his own performance as CEO or determine his own compensation. Therefore, the Board does not believe there is any conflict of interest in one person serving as Chairman and CEO of the Company.

The Board is well aware of the importance of an independent board of directors. It believes that its current composition and structure provide appropriate oversight of management.

PROPOSAL NO. 8
STOCKHOLDER PROPOSAL ON EXPENSING STOCK OPTIONS

Terry K. Dayton, 10510 East Sixth Avenue, Spokane, Washington 99206, who has beneficial ownership of 786 shares of the Company's stock, has advised the Company that he intends to present the following resolution at the annual meeting. In accordance with applicable proxy regulations, the proposed resolution and supporting statement, for which the Board of Directors and the Company accept no responsibility, are set forth below.

Stockholder Resolution
Expense Stock Options

Shareholders request that our Board of Directors establish a policy of expensing the costs of all future stock options issued in the Company's annual income statement.

Proponent's Supporting Statement

Most companies report the cost of stock options as a footnote in the annual report, rather than include the option costs in determining operating income. We believe that expensing stock options would more accurately reflect our company's operating earnings.

Stock options are an important part of our company's executive compensation. Options have replaced salary bonuses as the most significant part of executive pay packages at numerous companies. The lack of option expensing can promote excessive use of options in a company's compensation plans, obscure and understate the cost of executive compensation and encourage corporate strategies that promote short-term stock price rather than long-term value.

A recent report issued by Standard & Poor's indicated that expensing stock options would have lowered operating earnings at companies by as much as ten percent. The failure to expense stock option grants has introduced a significant distortion in reported earnings, said Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan. Reporting stock options as expenses is a sensible and positive step toward a clearer and more precise accounting of a company's worth. Globe and Mail, "Expensing Options Is a Bandwagon Worth Joining," Aug. 16, 2002.

Many companies have responded to investors' concerns about their failure to expense stock options. In recent months, more than 100 companies, including such prominent firms as Coca-Cola, Washington Post, and General Electric, have decided to expense stock options in order to provide their shareholders more accurate financial statements. We believe our company should do so as well.

Expense Stock Options VOTE YES ON NO. 8

Board of Directors' Response

The Board of Directors unanimously recommends a vote AGAINST this proposal.

The Board believes that options are a useful incentive to employees and align their interests in the Company with those of other stockholders. It also believes that the Company's use of stock option grants has always been modest and appropriate.

Current accounting rules give companies a choice of methods for accounting for employee stock options. They can use the intrinsic value method prescribed by Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25 or the fair value method prescribed by Financial Accounting Standards No. 123 (SFAS No. 123). Those rules also require that if the intrinsic value method is used, the potential impact of the fair value method must be disclosed in the footnotes to the financial statements. Alaska Air Group uses the intrinsic value method and is in full compliance with these rules. As shown in Note 1 of the Notes to our Consolidated Financial Statements, use of the fair value method of accounting and the Black-Scholes model in 2002 would have had a negative impact of $.23 on earnings per share.

The intrinsic value of a stock option is the amount by which the quoted market price of the stock exceeds the exercise price of the option on the date of grant. Historically, the Company's option awards have had zero intrinsic value on the date of grant because the exercise price is set to be equal to the market price of the stock on that date. The options are not vested on the date of grant; generally, they vest in 25% increments on each anniversary of the date of grant. The Board believes the intrinsic value method provides an accurate picture of the value of stock options on the date of grant.

Under SFAS No. 123, fair value is determined using an option-pricing model that takes into account multiple factors in estimating value. However, it does not prescribe a uniform or conventional methodology for computing fair value, and the provisions related to fair value calculation are subject to interpretation. The Black-Scholes model, which is widely used, looks at a number of factors, including the current stock price, the exercise price, expected volatility, expected dividend yield, expected term, and risk-free interest rate during the expected term. However, it was not meant to measure the cost to the issuer of employee stock options. It was developed to predict the potential value of publicly-traded options, which do not have the same vesting periods or other restrictions as employee stock options.

A recent Internet article put it as follows:

Accounting experts also think the Black-Scholes model leaves something to be desired. Black-Scholes is a measure of value, not of cost, suggests Sibson Consulting's Jones. It predicts what an option might be worth versus what it costs the company. Research has shown it not to be a good predictor of actual stock option outcomes and it was never intended to be that. Jones cites a study conducted by Sibson Consulting showing that the Black-Scholes model predicted the actual gains in stock prices only 5 percent of the time in looking at S&P 500 companies over a 20-year period. (Options Brouhaha, IR on the Net, January 2003, at www.ironthenet.com.)

The New York Times has reported that William Donaldson, the new Chairman of the SEC, also has doubts on this subject. On March 14, 2003, it reported the following on his appearance before Congress the previous day:

At the hearing, and in a brief meeting with reporters, Mr. Donaldson also expounded on policy issues for the first time as the agency's chairman. He said, for instance, that he thought companies needed to account for stock options granted to executives, though he questioned whether recording them as expenses was the most accurate way of reflecting their cost. He said that before making a final decision he would await rules being planned by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.

The Board believes it best at this time to retain the current accounting policy with respect to stock options and await developments on whether, and if so how, to expense stock options.

PROPOSAL NO. 9
STOCKHOLDER PROPOSAL ON REPORTING EMPLOYEE STOCK OWNERSHIP

Anson Robinson, 1304 S.E. 195th Avenue, Camas, Washington 98607, who has beneficial ownership of 1811 shares of the Company's stock, has advised the Company that he intends to present the following resolution at the annual meeting. In accordance with applicable proxy regulations, the proposed resolution and supporting statement, for which the Board of Directors and the Company accept no responsibility, are set forth below.

Stockholder Resolution

A NEW INFORMATIONAL TOOL TO BETTER UNDERSTAND AND ESTABLISH EXTENT OF WORKER-OWNERSHIP WHILE PROTECTING PRIVACY

Resolve that shareholders of Alaska Air Group, Inc. (our company) request the Board of Directors determine to the best of its ability the percentage of all stock owned by our employees, and report in detail the categories and totals as employee ownership changes.

Stockholder's Supporting Statement

Current law requires shareholders who own five percent or more of a company's stock to identify themselves. Today, institutions own more than 81% of our company.¹ Thus, when compared to that owned by individual shareholders, the percentage owned by our individual worker-owners becomes significant. It represents decisions made by investors with a unique perspective on our company.

This proposal requests ownership information about rank and file and junior management similar to that currently reported on board members and senior executives. However, this report may exclude data of those whose investments are more related to grants and options.

Outside of their 401(k) retirement plans, the employees of our company can own stock in various ways. Shareholders need help to understand the range, magnitude and types of worker-ownership. This report would also serve to inform the worker-owners of the size and importance of their investment in our company, and could preserve privacy by using THIRD PARTY SURVEYS.

The 2002 Sarbanes-Oxley Act allows greater flexibility of our worker-owners to sell their shares in 401(k) plans. Reported quarterly, this informational tool could provide the number of worker-owners who would be eligible to sell 401(k) shares. As responsible owners of our company, we need to understand patterns of employee ownership better.

We believe shareholders need an informational tool which can provide greater understanding of worker-owner confidence in our company as a viable investment, especially when using after tax dollars. Our worker-owners have an understanding of our company from a unique perspective compared to ordinary investors. We believe our employees increase or decrease their percentage of ownership as rational investors responding to what they perceive the future of our company to be.

Our industry has seen major companies fail. United Airlines' employees owned a majority of its stock. Unable to control their ownership structure due to unique circumstances and constraints, worker-owners were relegated to concerns over wage and work rules. We will probably never know if United employee shareholders had earlier liquidated their United holdings in other stock plans.

We believe this proposed tool may increase the potential for success of our company. Who can deny that worker-owners should be recognized as assets, or that their knowledge, skills and perspective could be better utilized?

In summary:

Provide shareholders an informational tool that may reveal the confidence of worker-owners in our company.

It should include data on all types of worker-ownership.

Do not include stock of senior executives, board members or others based on grants or options.

Privacy can and must be protected.

We believe this informational tool could assist in decisions to buy, sell or hold stock in our company.

Board of Directors' Response

The Board of Directors recommends a vote AGAINST this proposal for the following reasons.

Confidentiality Rules Prevent the Company from Knowing How Much Stock its Employees Own. The Company already reports in its annual proxy statement the number of shares held in the 401(k) plans it provides for the benefit of its employees. See page 9. However, the Company does not know how many shares its employees hold in all other accounts.

A U.S. company whose stock is publicly traded cannot know the identities of most of its stockholders, because most stock is held in brokerage accounts, which are confidential. Only the owners of those accounts and their brokers know what stock and other securities are held in those accounts. The issuers of the securities, such as Alaska Air Group, do not know who owns those securities and therefore can't identify what percentage is owned by employees.

Forty years ago, all stockholders were listed on the stock register of the issuer, which shows the names, addresses, and number of shares held in each stockholder account. This is no longer the case. Less than 2% of Alaska Air Group's stock is held by stockholders whose names appear on the stock register, who are called stockholders of record.

Those who hold their stock in brokerage accounts (and many whose stock is held for them by bank trustees) are not listed on the stock register. They are called beneficial owners. Brokers and banks generally deposit the shares they hold for beneficial owners in a depository that was created to reduce the physical movement of stock certificates and speed up settlement of trades. All the securities in the depository are registered in the name Cede & Co. on the stock registers of the issuing companies. On Alaska Air Group's register, Cede & Co. is currently shown as the holder of more than 98% of the total shares of stock outstanding. The Company can obtain from Cede the names of the brokers and banks who hold the shares included in Cede's total, but it cannot obtain the names of the clients of the brokers and banks, the beneficial owners, who are the real owners of the stock.*

As the issuers of stock do not have the names and addresses of those beneficial holders of their stock, they can't send communications to them directly. The brokers and banks are responsible for sending proxy materials to their clients who are beneficial holders. Most of the brokers and banks have outsourced the work to ADP, a proxy agent. Each issuer delivers sufficient quantities of its proxy materials to ADP, which sends them to the beneficial owners with a vote instruction form that serves the same purpose as the issuer's proxy card. However, the voting instruction forms are returned to ADP, not to the issuer, and ADP reports the aggregated votes to the tabulator of votes for the meeting.

This proposal calls for ownership information about rank and file and junior management similar to that currently reported on board members and senior executives. This reveals a misunderstanding by the Proponent. The Company can report the number of shares of its stock held by its directors and executive officers only because directors and executive officers are required to report such information to the Company. Similarly, the SEC's rules require the Company to report in its annual meeting proxy statement any person who is known to it to be the beneficial owner of more than five percent of its voting securities. (See the table on page 24.) However, the primary obligation to report such ownership is not on the Company, but on the person who acquires such ownership. The beneficial owner must report such ownership to the SEC and send a copy of the report to the Company.

* Rules 14b-1 and 14b-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 provide a procedure by which an issuer may learn from banks, brokers and other nominees the identities of their clients who are consenting or non-objecting beneficial owners (NOBOs) of the issuer's securities. The nominees must provide the names, addresses and number of shares held by NOBOs upon request from the issuer. However, an issuer must pay for that information and the list is good only as of a specified date. The Proposal asks for quarterly information, which would require the Company to purchase lists of NOBOs quarterly at a cost of thousands of dollars. The issuer can never obtain such information as to beneficial owners who have objected to such disclosure (who are called objecting beneficial owners or OBOs).

As a result of the system for holding securities in the U.S., the only way for an issuer to know how much of its stock is owned by its employees (other than its senior executives) is to ask them and obtain honest and accurate answers. While the proposal states that the Company could use third party surveys, the Company cannot compel employees to respond to surveys. It does not believe that even if it went to the considerable expense of employing an agent to send surveys to its 15,000 employees every quarter, it would receive enough responses to yield useful information. The Board does not believe that many employees would reveal their share ownership to the Company or an agent of the Company, even with assurances of confidentiality. Employees, like other investors, are concerned about their privacy, and the Company respects that concern.

The Company cannot identify all, or even most, of the holders of its stock. Therefore, it cannot report the percentage of its stock held by specified employees. Any conclusion based on the severely limited information available to the Company would be misleading. The expense involved in going through such an exercise on a quarterly basis would not be justified.

We Believe That Those Behind this Proposal Have Special Interests. The proponent is an employee of Horizon Air, a wholly owned subsidiary of AAG. The Company understands that he is also an associate of Steve Nieman, founder and president of the Horizon/Alaska Customer/Employees Co-Ownership Association, Inc. That organization, referred to as HACECA, has stated its goal to be raising money to promote the advantages of an employee and customer buyout of Horizon and Alaska Airlines.

Mr. Nieman is the sponsor of Proposal 4, which asks the Board to arrange for the prompt sale of AAG to the highest bidder. The information sought by this Proposal 9 could obviously be useful to those interested in buying the Company.

We believe Proposal 9 promotes the interests of certain employees of the Company and members of HACECA that are not shared by other stockholders. It appears that they want the Company to spend its money to gather and report information on employee ownership which they believe will help them to accomplish their goals.

The employees who want this information are free to send surveys to other employees and compile any information they receive in response. Those who share their goals may be willing to reveal to fellow employees information that is otherwise confidential. The Board of Directors does not consider it appropriate for the Company to be involved in that effort or for the Company's funds to be used for such a purpose.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS
A VOTE AGAINST PROPOSAL 9.

OTHER MATTERS TO COME BEFORE THE MEETING

A stockholder has notified the Company of his intention to nominate three alternate candidates for election as directors. He has informed the Company that he intends to solicit proxies in favor of those candidates and in favor of Proposals 3 through 9.

Other than the election of directors, the proposal to amend the Certificate of Incorporation, and the stockholder proposals included in this proxy statement, we are not aware of any matters to be properly presented for a vote at the annual meeting. If other matters are properly presented at the meeting, or for any adjournment or postponement of the meeting, Mr. John F. Kelly and Mr. Keith Loveless will vote on your behalf in accordance with their best judgment on such matters.

SUBMISSION OF PROPOSALS FOR NEXT ANNUAL MEETING

The Company expects to hold its next annual meeting on or about May 18, 2004. If you wish to submit a proposal for inclusion in the proxy materials for that meeting, you must send the proposal to the Corporate Secretary at the address below. The proposal must be received at the Company's executive offices no later than December 16, 2003 to be considered for inclusion. OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
OF ALASKA AIR GROUP, INC.

As Amended January 22, 2003

- 1. Purpose. There shall be a committee of the Board of Directors to be known as the Audit Committee. The purpose of the Audit Committee is to assist the Board of Directors of Alaska Air Group, Inc. (the "Company") in overseeing the accounting and financial reporting processes of the Company and audits of the financial statements of the Company, including (a) the integrity of the Company's financial statements and the reliability of the Company's financial information reported to the public, (b) the Company's compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, (c) the qualifications and independence of the Company's independent accountants, (d) the performance and adequacy of the Company's internal controls and internal audit function and of the independent accountants, and (e) such other matters as may be assigned by the Board of Directors.

While the Audit Committee has the responsibilities and powers set forth in this charter, it is not the duty of the Audit Committee to plan or conduct audits or to determine that the Company's financial statements are complete and accurate or in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. This is the responsibility of management and the independent auditors.

- 2. Composition. The Audit Committee shall be appointed by the Board of Directors and shall have at least three members. All members of the Audit Committee shall meet the independence, financial literacy and experience requirements of the New York Stock Exchange, as the same may be amended or supplemented from time to time, and of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") pursuant to regulations promulgated by the SEC under The Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (the "Sarbanes Act") or otherwise, as the same may be amended or supplemented from time to time. The Company must disclose in its periodic reports required by Section 13(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act") whether or not it has at least one member who is a financial expert, as defined by the SEC pursuant to the Sarbanes Act and whether such expert is independent as defined in Section 10A(m)(3) of the Act, and if not, why not.
- 3. Matters Pertaining to Independent Accountants. The Audit Committee shall be solely responsible for the appointment, compensation and oversight of the work of the Company's independent accountants (including resolution of disagreements between management and the independent accountants regarding financial reporting) for the purpose of preparing or issuing an audit report or related work, and, where appropriate, terminate and replace such firm. Such independent accountants shall report directly to and be ultimately accountable to the Audit Committee.

The Audit Committee shall:

- (a) Review the terms of the engagement of the independent accountants, including the scope of their audit, proposed fees and personnel qualifications.
- (b) Obtain and review from the independent accountants at least annually a formal written statement regarding:
 - (1) the independent accountants' internal quality-control procedures;
 - (2) any material issues raised by the most recent internal quality control review, or peer review, of the independent accountants, or by any inquiry or investigation by governmental or professional authorities, within the preceding five years, respecting one or more independent audits carried out by the independent accountants, and any steps taken to deal with any such issues; and
 - (3) all relationships between the independent accountants and the Company.
- (c) Actively engage in a dialogue with the independent accountants with respect to any disclosed relationships or services that may impact the objectivity and independence of the independent accountants, and recommend that the Board of Directors take appropriate action to satisfy itself of such independence.
- (d) Pre-approve all auditing services and all non-auditing services to be performed by the independent accountants. The independent accountants shall not be retained to perform the non-audit functions prohibited by Section 10A(g) of the Act. Such pre-approval can be given as part of the Company's Audit Committee's approval of the scope of the engagement of the independent accountants or on an individual basis. The approved non-auditing services must be disclosed in the Company's periodic public reports required by Section 13(a) of the Act and the fees paid by the Company for such non-auditing services must be disclosed in the Company's annual proxy statement pursuant to Item 9(e) of Regulation 14A promulgated under the Act. The pre-approval of non-auditing services can be delegated by the Audit Committee to one or more of its members, but the decision must be presented to the full Audit Committee at the next scheduled meeting.
- (e) Establish clear hiring policies for employees and former employees of the independent accountants.
- (f) Review the Company's annual audited financial statements and quarterly financial statements with management and the independent accountants (including the Company's disclosure under Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations). The Chair of the Audit Committee may represent the entire Audit Committee for purposes of the review of quarterly statements.

- (g) Receive and review required communications from the independent accountants, including: (a) any items required to be communicated by the independent accountants in accordance with AICPA Statement of Auditing Standards (SAS) 61, and (b) timely reports regarding the following matters in connection with any audits performed by the Company s independent accountants:
 - (1) all critical accounting policies and practices to be used;
 - (2) all alternative treatments of financial information within generally accepted accounting principles that have been discussed with management officials of the Company, ramifications of the use of such alternative disclosures and treatments, and the treatment preferred by the independent accountant; and
 - (3) other material written communications between the independent accountant and the Company s management, such as any management letter or schedule of unadjusted differences.

- (b) Review the Company s procedures with respect to appropriateness of significant accounting policies and adequacy of financial controls.
- (c) Discuss generally with management earnings releases, as well as financial information and earnings guidance provided to analysts and rating agencies. The Audit Committee need not discuss in advance each earnings release or each instance in which the Company may provide earnings guidance.
- (d) Develop, monitor and reassess from time to time a Corporate Compliance Program, including a Code of Conduct and Ethics for officers, employees and directors, and make decisions with respect to any requested changes to or waivers of such program and codes for directors or officers.

- (1) In connection with such Corporate Compliance Program, establish procedures for the receipt, retention and treatment of complaints received by the Company regarding accounting, internal accounting controls, or auditing matters, and the confidential, anonymous submission by employees of concerns regarding accounting or auditing matters.
